(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for the flashlight, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a perspective view of a first side of the flashlight showing the flashlight having a convex cap and also being used as a key chain.

FIG. 2 is a perspective view of a second side of the flashlight.

FIG. 3 is side elevational view of the flashlight.

FIG. 4 is a view of the flashlight looking from the barrel (of the bat) towards the handle (of the bat).

FIG. 5 is a view of the flashlight looking from the handle (of the bat) towards the barrel (of the bat).

FIG. 6 is a perspective view of the first side of the flashlight showing the flashlight with a flat cap and also having a pocket clip.

FIG. 7 is a perspective view of a second side of the flashlight of FIG. 6.

FIG. 8 is side elevational view of the flashlight of FIG. 6; and,

FIG. 9 is a view of the flashlight of FIG. 6 looking from the handle (of the bat) towards the barrel (of the bat).

Broken lines are used for illustrative purposes therein and form no part of the claimed design or a specified embodiment thereof. For example, a power switch, key chain, and pocket clip are shown in broken lines. Also for example, the flashlight is shaped like a baseball/softball bat, and the end of the barrel of the bat is shown in broken lines to illustrate various lighting caps, tops, or housings that may be used with the flashlight that are common shapes with bats, such as a convex top (FIGS. 1–3), a flat top (FIGS. 6–8), or even a cup/concave top (not shown).
