US005141507A

United States Patent [19]

Parekh

[11] Patent Number: 5,141,507

[45] Date of Patent: Aug. 25, 1992

[54] SOFT INTRAOCULAR LENS

[75] Inventor: Ramesh V. Parekh, Irvine, Calif.

[73] Assignee: Iolab Corporation, Claremont, Calif.

[21] Appl. No.: 804,145

[22] Filed: Dec. 6, 1991

[51] Int. Cl.[5] A61F 2/16

[52] U.S. Cl. 623/6; 623/901; 264/1.7

[58] Field of Search 623/6, 901; 264/1.1, 264/1.7

[56] References Cited

U.S. PATENT DOCUMENTS

4,139,915	2/1979	Richards et al.	623/6
4,468,820	9/1984	Uhler et al.	623/6
4,573,998	3/1986	Mazzocco	623/6
4,615,702	10/1986	Koziol et al.	623/6
4,687,484	8/1987	Kaplan	623/6
4,790,846	12/1988	Christ et al.	623/6
4,834,751	5/1989	Knight et al.	623/6

Primary Examiner—Ronald Frinks
Attorney, Agent, or Firm—Matthew S. Goodwin

[57] ABSTRACT

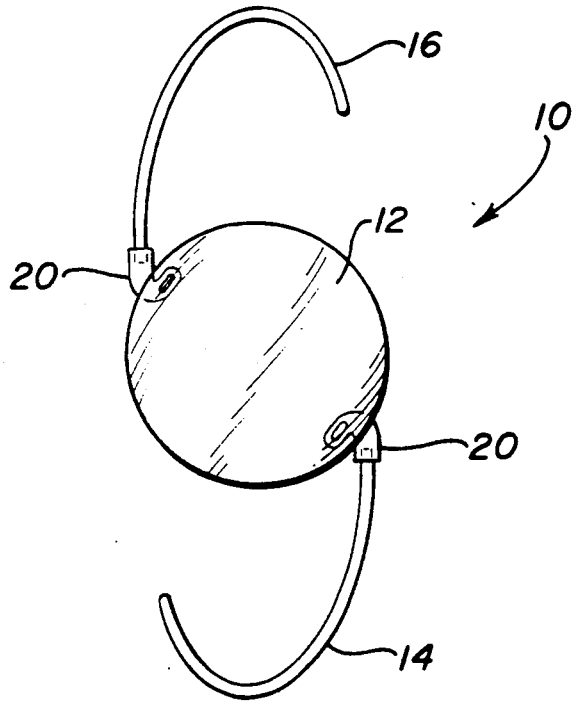
A soft intraocular lens with an insert which can be molded into an optic having an optic attachment member embedded in the optic and a haptic attachment member extending out of the optic to which a haptic may be connected. The insert permits the easy attachment of the haptic to the optic without subjecting the haptic material to the rigors of the processes by which the soft optic is made.


4 Claims, 2 Drawing Sheets