101
Acquiring a set alarm clock ringing time
102
Judging the size of time difference between monitored current time and the set alarm clock ringing time and a first set time difference
Less than 103
Awakening a system to execute startup operation
104
When acquiring a signaling identifier which is released in system startup and corresponds to startup, determining the current time to be alarm clock ringing time;
105
Starting the alarm clock to execute the ringing operation according to the determined alarm clock ringing time

FIG. 1