Create Document Version
Creating multiple versions of a document in a single file
Creating a new version of your document preserves its current state as an old version. All new edits are made in your new version.
When you save this document, your new version of this document, along with all its old versions are saved in the current file.
Old versions are read-only
You can view, print, and even save old versions into their own files (where you can edit them or compare them with other documents).
