

[54] METHOD FOR TREATING PHENYLKETONURIA

[75] Inventor: Helen K. Berry, Cincinnati, Ohio

[73] Assignee: Children's Hospital Medical Center, Cincinnati, Ohio

[*] Notice: The portion of the term of this patent subsequent to Jun. 24, 1997, has been disclaimed.

[21] Appl. No.: 106,560

[22] Filed: Dec. 26, 1979

Related U.S. Application Data

[63] Continuation-in-part of Ser. No. 941,931, Sep. 13, 1978, Pat. No. 4,209,531.

[51] Int. Cl.³ A61K 31/195

[52] U.S. Cl. 424/319

[58] Field of Search 424/319

[56] References Cited

U.S. PATENT DOCUMENTS

3,832,465 8/1974 Ghadimi 424/319

Primary Examiner—Stanley J. Friedman
Attorney, Agent, or Firm—Wood, Herron & Evans

[57] ABSTRACT

A method for improving motor and cognitive functions in mammalian subjects affected with phenylketonuria by administering a mixture of valine, isoleucine and leucine as a supplement to the restriction of phenylalanine content of their diets. The invention described herein was made in the course of work under a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

8 Claims, No Drawings