

19

- (h) prompting the user to input the formula for the new parameter; and
- (i) receiving from the user the formula for the new parameter, and wherein step (g) creates a new parameter having the received formula.

24. The method of claim 21 wherein step (c) includes the step of displaying a list of the plurality of classifications, and wherein step (d) includes the step of receiving an indication that the user has selected a particular one of the classifications in the displayed list, and wherein step (e) includes the step of displaying a list of available data types, and wherein step (f) includes the step of receiving an indication that the user has selected a particular one of the available data types in the displayed list.

20

25. The method of claim 10 wherein the associating step associates with the plurality of the parameters specified by the selected flowsheet group of the selected flowsheet normal result values for these parameters.

* * * * *