

15

- (c) if the visited constituent data structure does not match any of the constituent data structure already in the destination data structure:
  - (i) adding to the destination data structure a constituent data structure corresponding to the visited constituent data structure of the source data, and
  - (ii) establishing a reference in the destination data structure, the reference from a constituent data structure of the destination data structure corresponding to the constituent data structure of the source data structure that refers to the visited constituent data structure, the reference to be added constituent data structure, such that every constituent data structure in the destination data structure whose depth is at least as large as the threshold is unique.

16

* * * * *