

United States Patent [19]

Maini

[11] Patent Number: 4,747,848

[45] Date of Patent: May 31, 1988

[54] VASCULAR GRAFTS

4,654,464 3/1987 Mittelmeier et al. 623/16

[75] Inventor: Roshan Maini, Bridge of Weir,
Scotland

[73] Assignee: Vascutek Limited, Ayr, Scotland

[21] Appl. No.: 788,718

[22] Filed: Oct. 17, 1985

[30] Foreign Application Priority Data

Nov. 30, 1984 [GB] United Kingdom 8430265

[51] Int. Cl.⁴ A61F 2/06

[52] U.S. Cl. 623/1; 623/66;
530/354

[58] Field of Search 128/334 R; 623/1, 2,
623/11, 66, 15; 260/117, 121; 426/576;
523/112, 105; 530/354

[56] References Cited

U.S. PATENT DOCUMENTS

3,106,483 10/1963 Kline 623/1
4,167,045 9/1979 Sawyer 623/1

OTHER PUBLICATIONS

Dorland, The American Illustrated Medical Dictionary,
Saunders Co., 1923, pp. 52, 458.

Primary Examiner—Richard J. Apley

Assistant Examiner—Alan W. Cannon

Attorney, Agent, or Firm—Larson and Taylor

[57] ABSTRACT

A method of producing a vascular graft comprises impregnating a tube of flexible porous material with gelatinous material which contains a gelatin which has been treated to cause it to contain a predetermined number of amino groups less than that normally present in untreated gelatin then treating the impregnated tube to cause the amino groups to form cross links with one another. The gelatin may be treated by reacting it with the anhydride or the chloride of a polycarboxylic acid.

7 Claims, No Drawings