

67

driving said magnified image pickup element, and a position designator for calculating a distance which the actuator is to be driven and for designating a position to which the actuator is to be driven.

7. The system according to claim 1, wherein said view 5 field switching control mechanism comprises an actuator for driving a focusing lens provided in said magnified image pickup element, and a position designator for calculating a distance which the actuator is to be driven and for designating a position to which the actuator is to be driven.

68

* * * * *